

INDIANA DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Ryan Gallagher Deputy Commissioner of Operations

Ryan Gallagher was appointed Deputy Commissioner of Operations in May 2012. In this position, Ryan directs the operations of INDOT's six district offices in addition to the statewide support functions of Maintenance Management, Technical Services, Traffic Management, and Fleet and Facilities Management.

Overseeing the district operations, Ryan has a pulse on the agency's "boots on the ground" level of operations by working with INDOT's six District Deputy Commissioners to ensure Indiana's roadway infrastructure is maintained and operated effectively and efficiently.

Prior to his role as Deputy Commissioner, Ryan served as INDOT's Director of Traffic Management from 2008 to 2012. Previous to the Traffic Management Director position, Ryan was INDOT's Director of Traffic Control Systems from 2005 to 2008. Ryan's background includes district experience as the Greenfield District Traffic Engineer from 2004 to 2005, work as a project manager/estimator with a private contractor in 2003, and Greenfield District Traffic Signal Systems Engineer from 1997 to 2003.

Ryan moved to Indiana in 1997 after receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in civil engineering from Penn State University. He is also a registered engineer in Indiana.

Ryan lives in Bloomington with his wife, Jennifer, and five children—which includes two sets of twins. When not coaching and attending his children's sporting events, Ryan enjoys golfing and playing cribbage.
